This was because he had gone to Miami at the expense of the Internal Security Committee and returned at the expense of the Air Force. So Dodd instructed his accountant, O'Hare, to get a refund on the unused roundtrip ticket.

Since this ticket had been issued by a Cuban travel agency in Miami, it was impossible for O'Hare to get a refund direct from the airline. He had to go to the Cuban travel agency. When he did so, the agency wrote back asking whether the Senator from Connecticut would like to have the money returned to the Cuban friend who had paid for it in the first place.

Obviously it was embarrassing for Dodd to say no. O'Hare wrote back that this was agreeable.

Thus this column was in error in reporting that Dodd collected twice on his roundtrip ticket between Washing-
